

The National Gallery chooses Keepit after a diligent tender process

THE NATIONAL GALLERY

The National Gallery in London is one of the biggest art museums in the world with millions of yearly visitors. With the IT team reliant on Microsoft 365, a decision was made to implement a cloud-based backup system. After running a diligent tender process, The National Gallery chose Keepit to protect its M365 data.

UK Data Centers: the difference

As a publicly owned museum and governmental organization, The National Gallery needs to remain compliant when it comes to M365 data. With Keepit, The National Gallery can store all M365 data within the UK at two separate data centers.

Investing in cloud backup made simple

Protecting your valuable data shouldn't be an afterthought, but nor should it break the bank. Keepit offers class-leading performance at flexible price points. For James Mitchell and his team, Keepit's ease-of-use, the quick initial setup, and the competitive price proved a winning combination.

“We didn't want to invest time, money, and effort into an on-premise solution. As Microsoft 365 runs in the cloud, we opted for a cloud-based data protection provider.”

Reliable support that exceeds expectations

Mr. Mitchell was also impressed by the knowledge of Keepit’s staff as well as the dedication of the team to go above and beyond the call of duty.

About The National Gallery

The National Gallery is one of the most visited art museums in the world. It houses the UK’s national collection of paintings from the 13th to the 19th centuries. It is open 361 days a year and entrance is free of charge. The Gallery’s aim is to enable access to its collection for the education and enjoyment of the widest possible public – now and in the future.
